Dana: You know something? I can't think of the last time I had a good idea.

Natalie: This segment's a good idea.

Dana: It's not really a good idea. It's a fine idea. It's a regular idea. You have good ideas a lot. I find myself saying, "Natalie's got a good idea."

Natalie: But you also find yourself saying, "Natalie, if you screw that up again, I'll set you on fire."

Dana: That's true too. And yet, it's the good idea thing I'm focusing on right now. When was the last good idea you had?

Natalie: When I got up this morning I decided not to stick my head in the blender.

Dana: That's what I mean.

Natalie: I think the way you're handling the ~~Casey~~ ^{Joey} situation is very good.

Dana: The Casey situation? ^{Joey}

Natalie: I'm calling it the Casey situation.

Dana: It's not a situation.

Natalie: It's a bit of a situation.

Dana: It's not at all a situation.

Natalie: I've already named it.

Dana: You know, from the second Casey and Lisa split up, everyone in this office is convinced I have a strategy for getting Casey to fall in love with me.

Natalie: You're wrong. We know you didn't have a strategy and we're glad you've finally come up with something.

Dana: I have not come up with something.

Natalie: Well at least you're asking for help.

Dana: Natalie, I am not employing a strategy.

Natalie: You're going to Vermont for the weekend with Gordon.

Dana: Yes I am.

Natalie: And you bought new lingerie.

Dana: Yes I did.

Natalie: And you went out of your way to make sure Casey knew you bought new lingerie.

Dana: I did not!

Natalie: Right, that was me.

Dana: Natalie!

Natalie: Well, let's get the show on the road already, huh?

Dana: There is not show and there is no road.

Natalie: You're going to Vermont with Gordon and new lingerie.

Dana: Yes I am. Because I choose to and there's nothing sinister about it. I like Gordon and I like Vermont, so I am going with Gordon to Vermont. And I'm taking new lingerie for me. This is for me.

Natalie: Well I've gotta say, you've got Casey right where you want him.
